Course Content

Students will examine the historical theological and social developments that have led to a sacred-secular divide in the lives of both individuals and in the group practices of many church communities. They will examine the dangers of 'heroic' leadership patterns and the process of moving from this towards an enabling-equipping ministry, as well as reflecting on the role of the pastoral practices of preaching, leading worship, spiritual direction and administration in this process.

At the conclusion of this practical course students will be able to identify the areas of sacred-secular divide in their own church communities, and be able to develop appropriate practices across the church's various ministry areas to enable the whole church community to gain greater confidence in living as whole-life disciples.

Assessment

Assessment has been carefully designed to be both practical and immediately applicable to your church context. Assessment is comprised of:

1. Pre-reading and Response: read and respond to key course texts.
2. Survey and Analysis: assess the current status of a church community in relation to whole-life discipleship.
3. Major Assignment: Prepare a 4 week teaching series to encourage whole-life discipleship OR develop a strategic plan to deepen commitment to and capacity for whole-life discipleship making in your church.
